The exceptions are requests for maternity leave, debilitating illness/handicap where medical evidence suggests that the student will be able to return to study within a further year, and events or conditions occurring so close to the end of an academic year that the circumstances that made the request necessary will clearly still be in force in the next year.

Repeated suspension shall not be granted for chronic, on-going medical conditions. Instead the Dean shall consult with the student and the Institution's medical officer or other disability officer to see what help the Institution can offer that will help to overcome the effect of the condition insofar as ability to study is concerned.

No student shall postpone studies for more than two academic years and not more than once at any given level. Instead, students should re-apply for admission with transferred credit, under whatever admission rules are in force at the time.
